A DRINK AND SITE VISIT

MORE NOISE. LESS DIGGING

There has been less activity on the main part of the site over the past couple of weeks as we wait for the steelwork to begin. The focus has been along the shul wall, near the offices. The wall needs to be straightened and moved to accommodate the structural and safety requirements of our new two storey building.

This has meant that it's been anything but quiet. Our Staff Team have had a week of drilling, banging and dust. This week we're giving a big shout-out to everyone in the office and or who has come to Alyth for a lesson or activity during the day. It's been noisy. THANK YOU FOR YOUR TOLERANCE AND ONGOING SUPPORT.

MEETING BEFORE THE MEETING

Members were invited for a drink on the forecourt, ahead of the General Meeting to approve subscriptions. It was a lovely opportunity to get together and see the progress that has been made on site and to hear about next steps for our building project.

The forecourt is open every Friday evening before the service and on Shabbat morning. Don't forget to stop by and have a look at how we're doing.
